SUBLIMATED JERSEYS

SUBLIMATION is a unique printing technology that permanently dyes color and images into synthetic materials. Unlike a screen printed image or applique, a sublimated image or design on fabric leaves no "hand" or "feel", and will not crack, fade or peel. This technology enables limitless color and design possibilities in creating custom jersey artwork. OT Sports has been a leader in sublimation technology since 1994 and is one of the first US companies to design, manufacture, and supply sublimated jerseys into the collegiate, junior and professional hockey markets.

CUT & SEW JERSEYS

CUT & SEW is a term used for jerseys that are made using multiple pieces and layers of materials and colors, which are sewn together to create a jersey with more traditional striping patterns. OT Sports can match existing jersey designs from college or pro teams or work with your organization to develop a custom jersey pattern that is unique to your program.

Sublimation is a unique printing technology which permanently dyes and image into a surface. When combined with heat and pressure, the dye on a sublimation transfer changes from a solid to a gas. The dye is absorbed into the material, where it then returns to a solid, leaving a permanent print. Unlike a screen printed image or applique, a sublimated image on fabric leaves no "hand" or "feel", and will not crack, fade or peel.
